Jim Vanden Bosch

Founder & Executive Director of Terra Nova Films

Jim is the Founder and Executive Director of Terra Nova Films. He has produced several award-winning films on a variety of aging-related issues, including several videos on successful ways to communicate and work with persons who are living with dementia. He is also an associate editor for the arts and humanities section of The Gerontologist, an academic journal of the Gerontological Society of America. In this position he reviews mainstream films that deal with aging themes.

An image engraved in the memory...a line of dialogue that lingers...an emotion that cuts to the core of your being... The power of film and video is to inform, inspire, and reshape thinking and attitudes is undeniable. Terra Nova Films uses these visual media to foster a new look at aging and elderhood one that values elderhood as much as any other stage of life, and that respects the life experience and contributions of older adults. Each film is allowed to evolve naturally, resulting in honest revelations that help others faced with similar aging related circumstances and experiences.
