

Community Presentation

Michael Whyte & Glenn Witzenburg
Legacy Options

End of Life Planning

Dying is one of the few events in life that's certain to occur, yet we rarely plan for it. We plan most everything in life in advance: we plan vacations, buying a home, a child's education and weddings. We plan most of these events as a couple with the support and guidance from each other, so why would we leave our spouse or partner to face these decisions alone on the worst day of their life? Planning ahead is an act of protection for those we love from making these decisions alone.

Monday, September 18, 2017

3:00 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. Suite 33

Alzheimer's Support Network